the supply of maritime transport services and ensuring open markets in this situation private economic actors are confronted with substantial legal uncertainty this book provides a detailed analysis of the history of maritime transport services in the Uruguay and post Uruguay round negotiations and the role of the sector in the ongoing Doha round talks where member states have the opportunity to work towards a global regime ensuring the progressive liberalization of the sector the reader will be confronted with an extensive overview of the role of maritime transport services in the WTO GATS framework a topic basically uncovered in the literature so far

a major success of the early post war period was the negotiated reduction of barriers to international trade in commodities and manufactured goods under the auspices of the GATT the current challenge is to achieve a similar liberalization for trade in services the sector which has overtaken manufacturing as the largest provider of jobs and growth in the advanced economies the difficulties are legion data are scarce and definitions are contentious there is no clear equivalent in services of the zero tariff objective that can be defined in the trade of goods domestic service markets are often imperfect and each country has its own regulatory structure to protect consumers many developing countries are sceptical about the effects of freer service trade on their economies this paper develops an analytical framework to clarify negotiating objectives it assesses the European Community's approach to liberalization and warns of the dangers of seeking equivalent reciprocity it suggests that a different approach and set of objectives are appropriate to the GATT which lacks well defined procedures for policy review and settlement of disputes and whose members are more diverse finally it evaluates the prospects for multilateral service liberalization in the Uruguay round and in the EC by 1992 and suggests that such efforts can be complemented by unilateral and bilateral liberalization in certain service sectors

India's engagement with the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) is at the heart of its Look East Policy. As a regional bloc, ASEAN has developed much faster than any of the other blocs in the Asia-Pacific. With ASEAN and India working towards establishing a comprehensive free trade area through the Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership (RCEP), their cooperation will be key to promoting economic stability, competitiveness, growth, and integration in the region. This report provides a comparative analysis of the global and regional economies, examines the impact and implications of India-ASEAN integration, assesses policy priorities, effectiveness, implementation, imperatives, and challenges, and discusses themes central to the economic sustainability of the region, including public and foreign policy, trade facilitation, financial and scientific cooperation, food security, energy cooperation, and productivity and opportunities in the manufacturing and service sectors. It will be invaluable to scholars and researchers of Economics, International Relations, Development Studies, Area Studies, as well as policy makers, administrators, private sector professionals, and non-governmental organisations in the field.

The FAO/EU FLEGT Programme supports government agencies, non-governmental organizations, and private sector associations to work together in support of legal and trade reforms in timber-producing countries with the aim of increasing legal trade in timber. The programme, which started in 2008, is currently half way through its third phase of funding and covers 24 countries across Africa, Asia, and Latin America. An evaluation of the third phase shows that despite significant shifts in timber markets and flows, the programme remains highly relevant to national and regional forest governance objectives, national trade priorities, and market demands. It is also well aligned to donor goals and objectives, particularly the EU FLEGT Action Plan, as well as FAO strategic objectives. The programme has achieved important results at country level, including improved voice of non-state actors, increased capacity and skills, policy, legal, and regulatory reforms, transparency and disclosure, and improvements in timber legality.
